GCAHA Board and General Meeting: June 20th, 2009
 at the Village Inn Restaurant on 49th West Ave, Tulsa from 5:00Pm to 9:00PM

Those present for the Board Meeting were Barb McCalip, Betsy Barnes, Dee and Art Byrd, Vicky Carnahan, Becky Amason and Carolyn Lackey. Items discussed were as follows: Any purchases must be with permission of the club; and, if not paid by the individual, receipts must be given to the treasurer in a timely fashion.

Art needs three (3) 80 (eighty) horsepower tractors for AHA Nationals by request of Tony Connor for the purpose of dragging the arenas.

Golf carts were discussed and a decision should be made by the July meeting on whether to purchase or rent a cart for GCAHA use during Nationals. Carts can be purchased for approx. $1,500.00 to $2,000.00 used and are approx. $750.00 for the week's rental. GCAHA members could decorate the cart with the sign and logo just as we have on the trailer to identify it. It was thought that someone might donate a cart. Vicky will check with the man near Eddie Ralston's on used carts.

The GCAHA booth for Nationals was also discussed. It was decided that the club would provide club labeled ink pins for the booth as handout material. The logo will be included as well. Caroline Lackey is in charge of the decoration for the booth. The limit was 250 to 500 pins for the best price and Dee Byrd said she would investigate. Art Byrd will contact the FFA organizations to insure their aid at nationals on the trail set-up and removal.

GCAHA membership is up to 136 with 11 youth members. Delegates planning to attend must report to Vicky Carnahan soon to insure aid from the club for convention in Reno, Nevada. The dates are November 18th through the 22nd and the club will assist with $500.00 per delegate for expenses. Jan Lewis and Velma Boedt have already initiated plans to attend and stay at the Silver Legacy Resort.

July 2009

GCAHA must resubmit their insurance for Nationals and plans to use Equisure again at a cost of $750.00. The vote was unanimous to redo the insurance.

Patsy Connor, judge at the recent Ind. Terr. Com. Trail Ride, donated her compensation for judging to the NATRC Region 4 for the Junior Year End Award Program. Our recent Class 'A' Show in May of 2009 made $7,050.00 and the Indian Territory Competitive Trail Ride made $2,400.00. "The trail ride was a good one and everyone enjoyed it", Art said. We will have Sport Horse Competition at the Tulsa State Fair Show and Lauren Robertson will judge. Travel fees are $500.00 for his flight and $300.00 for judging. Art Byrd will visit with the Welch Pony club to check on sharing the steward for the Fair Show and so sharing expenses as we have done in the past. Becky Amason, GCAHA treasurer, wrote Art Byrd a refund check for the charge of the Fair judge's flight on his credit card. Diane Morgan Stasiak will judge the Fair Show. Larry Alcorn would like to steward the show in 2010. Art Byrd will check on this with Larry. It was mentioned that many individuals would prefer not to use Jeremy Harper as a judge for at least three years.

Betsy Barnes mentioned that she would like to see the club work on a welcoming package for new members. Dee Byrd volunteered to collect items to include in a packet for new members including the by-laws. Art Byrd, as an officer, can get into the club's membership and so will print a list of new members for Dee. Betsy also mentioned that Cynthia Ramsey, a new member, would like to volunteer at the shows.

It was announced that Sandra Byrd may retire as Show Secretary after this year's Fair Show. Ruth Charpie is one of the names to be considered as a secretary for our show.

Becky Amason will download the list for a new GCAHA Club Directory and forward the list to Caroline Lackey for printing of 125 copies.

The General Meeting began at approximately 7:00 PM. It was mentioned that the meeting in July would be at Virgil and Linda Gremore's place on Highway 33 West of Sapulpa at 6:00PM on the 18th.

Items from the board meeting were repeated to those present who were as follows: Art and Dee Byrd, Becky Amason, Betsy Barnes, Vicky Carnahan, Barb McCalip, Jan Lewis, Ann Morrison, Joyce and Ron Lawson, Peg Seger, Beverly Cargile, Sara Carl, Candy Wilhelm, Debora Smith, Jeff Wright, Lisa Gallery, Brenda Wyatt, Frances Loyd, Dee Larimore and Caroline Lackey.

Sandra Byrd's fifteen (15) year stint as show secretary (FOR FREE!) was discussed. Names for replacements will be taken and professionals for the position were discussed as well. SANDRA, PLEASE don't go!!!

Members were told that a new GCAHA Directory would be provided beginning at the next meeting.

Along with the information on show income in May, the club's fun show made $450.00 for the youth fund and $450.00 for the general fund. Good Job!!

It was announced that the Pure Pleasure Gaited Horse Association will have an event on June 27th, which will include soccer at the Mohawk Park at 7:00Pm near the Polo field. There will also be a trail ride.

Jan Lewis reported on the Region 9 Delegate Meeting. A new secretary, Jan Godsey was voted in. Herb Mietes was voted the new Oklahoma State Representative. There were 608 horses at the Show, which was a good turn out. Sport Horse numbers were down though. There was a controversy over the views expressed by AHA on the horse slaughter issue, which AHA supports.

The Stallion Service Auction for 2009 is off and running. On Sept. 12th there will be a live auction at Eddie Ralstons'. While the stallions will not be present, their photos/videos will. There have been rule changes in the Stallion Srv. Auc. Correcting wording but basically the same rules as before. Mare nomination forms must not be ignored. The information is necessary for GCAHA to know who is bred and who is not thus who will be showing at the futurities. This tells us who is an eligible baby and how the funds will be divided. It was decided that the penalty for failure to report/nominate the mare on the part of the mare owner should be that they can not show the baby. The vote was unanimous in favor of this action. Another amendment voted unanimously in favor of was that on the death of the mare another must be listed within thirty (30) days. The club also decided to have a signature sheet at the auction for the Stallion and mare.

The topic of this month's meeting was, The Costs of Competitive Trail – vs – Showing in Arabian Horses. Art Byrd was the speaker/presenter and he gave those present all the facts at hand on Endurance and Competitive Trail along with showing at Class 'A' Shows.

With Endurance rides the horse travels in a horse race from 25 – 50 – 100 – or 200 miles.

July 2009

The twenty-five (25) mile race is usually a six (6) hour time frame and the 100 mile race is usually in twenty-four (24) hours. Completion is fun but the race is not! First to finish is the winner and best conditioned is from among the first ten (10) to cross the line. Competitive Trail is a timed event with horse and rider traveling anywhere from three (3) to eight (8) miles per hour. There are many sites near by such as the following: Cedar Lake, Wilburton, Clayton, John Zinc, Walnut Creek, Oolagah, Bell Cow Lake, Lake Carl Blackwell (The Site for AHA US Nationals this year), Robbers Cave, and others. Both horse and rider must be in good shape. NATRC, North American Trail Ride Conference is the sanctioning organization. GCAHA is in Region Four (4) of this conference and the rides are sanctioned nation wide. Rides usually last two (2) days while Endurance rides usually check in, ride and do awards on the same day. You can be disqualified and you may not leave the premises once checked in. Stallions must be double tied. The rider is 20% of the score; also counted are grooming, presentation and tack. Thirty percent (30%) is in stabling and forty percent (40%) on conditioning (soundness and disposition). CTR uses two (2) stops minimum for P & R (pulse and respiration) checks. The horse has ten (10) minutes to recover and then another ten (10) minutes. If the recovery has not occurred the horse is disqualified. There are 'open' and 'novice' groups in CTR and 'junior', light weight (109lbs and under) and heavy weight. Cost varies with accommodations (on the ground or a motor coach). The entry fee is $70.00; there is usually a camping fee, drug test fee, $3.00 member fee or $20.00 nonmember fee, food costs, and gas to and from ($100.00 to $300.00/weekend). There are many rules all of which can be found on line. Individuals under eighteen (18) years old MUST wear a helmet. There will be a CTR Clinic and 'B' Ride at Lake Carl Blackwell near Stillwater on July 4th, 2009. Call Kate Kearby at 405-373-1387 or Sheila Garretson at 405-361-0579 for more information. The meeting adjourned at 9:00PM.

Hello, My name is Michellee Jones. I have a 3/4 arabian, 1/4 quarter horse. Registered 1/2 arab. I purchased her for fun, trail rides etc although she is still somewhat green although progressing well. I have been looking people to join the riding experience and get her started more on trail riding. Riding alone is just not just not the same. I really miss the socialization. We have 160 acres here which I do ride on but its not the same by myself. I don't have a horse trailer at this time, hopefully next year. But was hoping someone in my area would let me help pay expenses to haul her to some beginner trail rides. I would really like to get involved with some horse people and don't seem to be able to find anyone in the area that actually ride their horses. I do belong to the Arabian horse Association, if I need to join any other program for this area I would be happy too. Thank you, Michelle M Jones (918) 486-2000 My address is 28191 East 97th St. South, Broken Arrow, Ok 74014 (located right on the boarder of Broken Arrow and Coweta)

It has come to light that the National Champion stallion, LD Pistol, has a yearling clone which is owned by the Partnership. Jeff Sloan of the Partnership has already had a conversation with Debbie Fuentes at the Registry regarding possible registration in the future if the current rules are changed. It appears this was done as Pistol has fertility issues.

I'm sure everyone has their own opinion on this issue, but if we are going to fight a future rule change that allow's clones to be registered we need to do it now and very loudly. Our chosen breed's gene pool is getting smaller all the time with breeding to the flavor of the year and multiple ET foals.

I would hope you bring this issue up at our next club meeting for discussion and possibly a letter to the Registry. Thank you Michele Smith, Amerikan Farms

BUCKING ON LABOR DAY – NEW MEXICO

Every year on Labor Day weekend, several hikers from Santa Fe come to the High Country not far from our house to camp in the wilderness for a week. A friend of ours in Buena Vista (Michael) takes pack horses to the trailhead and takes their supplies to their designated campsite. He goes back a week later with the pack horses to bring the supplies back down the mountain. Sonny went both trips last year, but I couldn't go because I was in Idaho.

Well, we didn't join Michael's group this Labor Day weekend to take pack animals to the top of the mountain, because it was raining and nasty that day. Just couldn't do it. Michael and his kids had to go anyway because the hikers were expecting him to be there to take their supplies up. But, we DID ride up the mountain with him the following weekend to bring the supplies (which were plentiful) back down the mountain. We left the house at 6:30am, thinking we'd be back by 5pm. The views were absolutely awesome, and NO, I don't have pictures, because I forgot to take my camera! We rode to 12,600' at the highest point, which was cold and windy, but man, you could see forever. The hikers' campsite was at 12,050', just over the top. The TOP was above tree-line and solid rock boulders, about the size of grapefruit and bowling balls. It was not real difficult to cross, if you just took your time and let the horses pick their footing. It took about 45 minutes to go over it. It was cold and windy, but we were dressed with Polartec and wool and covered with a raincoat. My face was cold, and eyes watered from the wind, but that was about all. Surprisingly, I was really quite comfortable. I think Chief had trouble seeing a few times, as the wind had to affect his vision on the way up – coming back, the wind was to our backs so not as severe.

It took us about 3 hours to reach the campsite, and my GPS said it was only 4.5 miles from the truck (straight line). We had parked at the top of a forest road, which is where the trailhead is located. Michael had 3 kids with him (early-teens) and 3 pack horses, and Sonny and me – 9 horses in all. The pack horses were QHs, and subsequently, butt-heads. One pack horse would just STOP and refuse to go, so Michael's son asked Sonny to take him. WELL... Grand has only ponied Chief behind him, and he DIDN'T like that damned QH jerking him around. He raised his butt a few times to kick the QH, but Sonny stayed in control and Grand finally cooperated (still had his ears pinned, but he did the job). The trip to the top was tough, and we stopped several times to allow the horses to rest. All the horses were panting, but Chief and Grand recovered the quickest, I believe, even though they were not in great condition. They were huffing and puffing during the steepest pulls and tight switchbacks – you gotta know the altitude wasn't helping.

We made it just fine EXCEPT about ¼ mile from the trailhead there is a fast moving creek about knee-deep on the horses. Cold, clear water and welcoming to the horses, but you didn't want to stay there. Just on the other side of the creek was a large bee nest inside a rotting log, and they were pissed! All the horses got stung going through there, and since poor Grand was the last horse, he got the most! Sonny stayed with him (he's much better than me on a bucking horse), and even after we passed the bees, I had to help Sonny knock off the ones that were still stuck to his horse and driving him crazy. For a few minutes, you could see the welts on his chest, neck, belly, and hind quarters, but they went away. Poor guy – Chief was stung too, and bucked and twirled around, but we got past the bees as fast as we could, with Grand right behind us. The other horses got a few stings, but they all reacted the same – crazy. No one was bucked off, and we continued up the trail. Of course, my question to Michael was "Do we have to come back this way?" and he said Yep. BUMMER! Well, all the rest of the trip I was thinking about that damn bee nest by the creek, and hoping that the Gods would be with us.

After meeting the hikers at their campsite and having a sandwich and drink (the grass was a wonderful treat for the horses – something Grand and Chief get very little of these days), the hikers started hiking back down the mountain to the trucks while Sonny and Michael started packing the 3 pack horses. I watched them, feeling my bones and joints start to stove-up in the chill of the high altitude, and dreading the ride back down. One of the really neat things was this RAM that was milling around the campground. He got within 30' of people and horses alike, and actually circled the entire campsite grazing and watching the whole time we were there. The hikers said the Ram (and others) comes every year to visit. The horses didn't seem to mind the Ram, but they did pay attention to him. Finally, we started back down the mountain at 2:30, but didn't arrive at the trailers until after 6pm!!!

Reason – we had to stop MANY times so Sonny and Michael could repack a horse or two. They had to take everything off and start all over again. We only had 3 pack horses, and really needed 4. The packs were not only wide on both sides, they were top-heavy. The pack horses would rub against the trees and pull the packs off center, or they would bounce or trip on the rocks (above tree line) and bounce the packs off balance. Several times, the packs rolled all the way over - then you had bucking pack horses. I think they were all mares – what can I say ☺? Anyway, there were various other things that we had to stop for – losing a pack horse and having to go back and get it, or baulking pack horses that you needed to prod to keep going, or someone would drop a glove or cap and you had to chase it down, or just stopping for the horses to rest. Finally... we came to the bee hive by the creek, and Sonny was first this time (pulling a pack horse) and I was second, and Michael was behind me with a pack horse, and the 3 kids (with pack horse) behind him. We could see the nest close to the creek, and we thought we could quietly pass without much disturbance, but NO... Grand started bucking and spinning almost immediately and his pack horse started doing the same thing, and then Chief went ballistic and Michael's horse and pack horse – all at about the same instant. It was pure pandemonium! Sonny let go of his pack horse, who quickly bucked himself in-between two trees (got stuck), and I managed to stay on Chief while he went crazy (don't know how I did that), and Michael bailed off his horse to rescue the pack horse stuck in the trees (still going crazy from the bees). Finally, we got the 5 horses under control, and Sonny and Michael took their horses and pack horses across the creek and waited. I tried to follow, but after the bee assault seemed to stop, Chief wanted water, so he stopped in the creek and drank. Imagine that! Sometimes he wouldn't stop and drink on a CTR ride, but in the middle of a bee assault, he drinks! Arabians! Anyway, we adults were now across the creek into safety, and the 3 kids were still on the other side. Here they come! Running and bucking and screaming (like kids do, and I probably was too), and here comes 1 pack horse (pack hanging off to the side), and 2 kids on bucking horses, and 1 kid running on foot. The kids got stung – we adults didn't. What does THAT tell you? Anyway we, of course, had to stop to repack 2 of the pack horses before we could continue on. Then, FINALLY we reached the trucks where the hikers were anxiously waiting because we took so long to arrive, and the final pack horse pulled himself away from one of the kids and wedged himself between 2 trees just wide enough to pull the whole load over to the ground. Another bucking and twisting spectacle for everyone to see. Sonny jumped off Grand to help, and I just took our horses to the trailer and started taking saddles off. They (and I) didn't care about those dumb QHs any more - we just wanted to go home.

We finally walked into the house at 8:05pm, and I quickly fed the cats and started some chili while Sonny took care of the horses and stuff. Home Sweet Home! I'll tell you, we have decided that a simple 3-4 hour ride in this beautiful country is about our speed anymore. No more pack horses, no more bees (we hope), and no more screaming kids and dumb QHs. Of course, this is MY side of the story, and I'm sticking to it!

I'm writing this the evening after the mountain ride, and both Sonny and I are moving very slowly! Our plans for the entire day is watching football, and finishing off the chili. It's tough getting old. The horses are just fine.
